New York, Columbia University, Rare Book and Manuscript Library, General MS 176

Description: - Bound in leather over wooden boards with five bosses on each cover, and with two fore edge clasps closing to hooks on the back cover. - Given to the Rare Book & Manuscript Library in February 1999 by Eugenia Saville, professor in the Music Department at Duke University.

Notes: -For Carmelite use? See in particular the feasts of the Virgin of Mt. Carmel, of Joseph of Cupertino, of the "Patrocinium sancti Iosephi," of Elijah prophet, of Thomas of Villaña, of St. Mary "de Cervellione" and of the "Translatio domus laurentane" (of the house of Loreto, in 1294; the proper office and mass were conceded in 1669).

Acknowledgments: - We thank Molly Boord who dated this manuscript according to the presence of the feast for Mary as Auxiliatrix Christianorum.
